Good morning.

Yesterday we had 1 employee test positive for Covid. He/she is home and on quarantine. The department he/she works in is testing every other day. We have no reason to be alarmed at this time that this has potential to transfer to the residents at this time- however we continue to monitor all residents for any signs/symptoms.

We ARE NOT considered in an outbreak status – however NH DHHS had been alerted to this positive case with our employee.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.
